

Is posting someone's private or personal information okay?

Updated 1 year ago

Search help articles

- Reddit
- Account Status >
- Getting Started >
- Features & Experiences >
- Rules & Reporting >
- Account and community restrictions >
- What are Reddit's rules?
- Content Moderation, Enforcement, and Appeals
- Spam
- Disrupting Communities
- Is posting someone's private or personal information okay?
- How old do you need to be to use Reddit?
- What should I do if I see something I don't like on Reddit?
- What is ban evasion?
- Banned Communities
- Quarantined Communities
- Why is content being restricted in my country?
- Do not threaten, harass, or bully
- Don't break the site
- Impersonation
- Manipulated Content and Misleading Behavior
- Do not post violent content
- How does Reddit fight the dissemination of terrorist content?
- Do not share sexual or suggestive content involving minors, or engage in any predatory or inappropriate behavior with minors
- Do not share content depicting or promoting neglect, physical, or emotional abuse against minors
- Never Post Intimate or Sexually Explicit Media of Someone Without Their Consent
- How does Reddit fight Child Sexual Exploitation?
- Illegal or Prohibited Transactions
- External Links to Vendors of Alcohol, Tobacco or Controlled Substances
- External Links to Firearm or Ammunition Vendors
- Promoting Hate Based on Identity or Vulnerability
- Why can't I see the list of moderators in a community?
- Reporting >
- Responding to suicide >
- Responding to non-consensual sharing of intimate media >
- Responding to harassment and other difficult situations >
- Intellectual Property Issues >
- Legal requests for account information >
- Country specific reporting procedures >
- Privacy & Security >
- Reddit Apps >
- Getting Started >
- Moderation Tools >
- Community Engagement >
- Advice & Resources >
- Mod Programs and Initiatives >

No. Reddit is quite open and pro-free speech, but it is not okay to post someone's personal information or post links to personal information. This includes links to public Facebook pages and screenshots of Facebook pages with the names still legible.

Posting someone's personal information will get you banned. When posting screenshots, be sure to edit out any personally identifiable information to avoid running afoul of this rule.

Public figures can be an exception to this rule, such as posting professional links to contact a congressman or the CEO of a company. But don't post anything inviting harassment, don't harass, and don't cheer on or upvote obvious vigilantism.

To report a Personal Information violation, please visit this page.

Prev
Disrupting Communities

Next
How old do you need to be to use Reddit?

Get in touch

Still have questions? If you didn't find what you need, contact us or visit r/modsupport or r/help for more help.

Submit a request

Still need help as a user?

Come check out r/help and see if other redditors can help you out. Although this isn't an official Reddit community, you'll find admins here as well.

Still need help as a moderator?

Come check out r/modsupport! Here you can post mod tool-related questions for Reddit admins.

- Company
- About
- Advertising
- Careers
- Investors
- Press Contact
- Reddit Blog
- Vendor Help Center

- Resources
- Policies
- Developer Platform
- Reddit App
- Reddit Premium

